SCHOOL REPORT.

To the Citizens of Derry:—

Your schools for the past year have made excellent progress. Teachers, parents and pupils have worked in harmony with the best interests of the schools in view. Mistakes have, of course, been made; but none so serious as to impair the prosperity of the schools. Able, and in most instances, experienced teachers were employed, and, except in two districts, the same teachers were retained throughout the year. The new readers have awakened a lively interest in reading, and a marked improvement is noticeable in that branch of study, in all the schools. In a few districts many of the children were detained at home by sickness during a part of the winter term; elsewhere the attendance has been regular. Your attention is invited to the following detailed statement of the progress of the several schools.

DISTRICT No. 1.

The management of this school has been uniformly excellent throughout the year. Its teacher, Miss L.

J. Wadsworth, has had sufficient experience in the school-room to enable her to understand and meet the wants of each of her pupils. Good work has been done in all the branches of study, but especial praise is due the pupils in arithmetic.

The Winter term is still in session.

DISTRICT No. 2.

The scholars of this district are again united in one room. The plan of having two schools, adopted two years ago, was abandoned at the beginning of this school year, on account of the unfitness of the school-rooms. A small room in the school-house was used during the first term of this year as a recitation room; but was totally unfit for the purpose. This school has been ably managed by Mr. J. T. Bartlett, assisted during the first term by Miss Carrie Clarke. Mr. Bartlett is an excellent teacher, and everything in his school is done with regularity and precision: although after the first term, he had an extra amount of work, he has kept a very profitable school.

Miss Clark performed her work in a satisfactory manner, and it is to be regretted that she could not have been retained for the remainder of the year, and a more suitable room provided for her. The Winter term has not yet closed.

DISTRICT No. 3.

Miss Belle D. McGregor, teacher for the preceding year, was again in this school-room. This was a pleasant school to visit. The relation between teacher and pupils was of the best, and the work of the school went on smoothly and well.

DISTRICT No. 4.

The committee in this district was fortunate in securing the services of Miss Mary E. Noyes in this school. This school is always a good one, and under the instruction of Miss Noyes it ranked among the best in town.

DISTRICT No. 5.

Miss Lizzie K. Chase, teacher for the summer term, entered this school with no experience, but under her instruction the pupils made fair progress.

Miss Almira J. Eaton, a teacher of extensive experience, has charge of this school for the winter term. A visit, made near the beginning of the term, found the school well organized, and everything indicated that a successful term's work would be done.

The school is in session at this date.

DISTRICT No. 6.

This school, with Miss A. B. Nichols as teacher, was a good one. The teacher, by her energy and perseverance inspired her pupils with an interest in their studies which resulted in good recitations and an orderly school room.

DISTRICT No. 7.

Miss Emma J. Adams, teacher. This school was in a poor condition at the beginning of the year, but under the firm discipline and faithful instruction of Miss Adams, there was a steady improvement throughout the year.

DISTRICT No. 8.

Miss Nellie M. Clement had charge of this school during the spring term. Excellent order and prompt recitations showed good work on the part of teacher and scholars.

The two remaining terms of school were taught by Miss Helen W. Poor. This was Miss Poor's first experience as a teacher. With the exception of the discipline, which was hardly strict enough, the school made a good appearance. The reading classes were well drilled and made much improvement.

DISTRICT No. 9.

Miss Alice D. Morse had charge of this school for the year, and showed herself a faithful and efficient teacher. The school was always in order and appeared interested in its work.

DISTRICT No. 11.

This school, under the instruction of Miss Emma Greeley, made fair progress in the several branches of study pursued. The order was poor. The size of this school and the large proportion of small children, render it a difficult one to govern. The winter term was badly broken up by cold and smoke, which rendered the school-room unfit for occupancy a part of the time.

DISTRICT No. 12.

This completes the fourth year that Miss Mary A. Morse has taught this school. Her acquaintance with her pupils, and her knowledge of their acquirements and deficiencies, enabled her to work to the best advantage, and although her school was the smallest in town, it was one of the best.

Respectfully submitted.
